ROAD BUILDING IN CARMEL VALLEY This aerial view above Carmel Valley shows the progress being made on rebuilding about a half-mile of Carmel Valley Road, about three miles west of the Village. Carmel River channel has been moved south, and the new right-of-way is now under construction just to the left of it. The view, taken by George T.C. Smith from a Carmel Valley Aviation plane piloted by Al Hood, looks easterly. At extreme upper right is the Laureles Grade intersection with Carmel Valley Road. Hopefully, the project will be completed by August.

Save your old newspapers!

The Carmel and Carmel Valley Disposal Service announced yesterday it will collect bundled newspapers from private homes on a one-month trial basis starting Monday, June 1.

The newspapers will be shipped to a pulp paper firm in Southern California, where they will be recycled to make fresh newsprint.

The company emphasized this will be a trial effort to see if the volume of papers collected balances out the pick-up and storage costs. If there is enough interest in this conservation effort -- which serves the double purpose of reducing the volume of garbage to be disposed of, and helps save trees -- the newspaper collection may be continued on a permanent basis.

All residents of Carmel Valley, Carmel, Carmel Highlands, San Benancio Canyon and Toro Park are urged to participate in this newspaper drive by observing the following rules:

1. Collect fresh newsprint ONLY. No magazines, colored comic sections or Sunday magazine supplement sections can be accepted. Old, faded newspapers are not reusable, either.

2. Tie bundles of newspapers securely and leave them on top of or alongside your garbage can on the regular pick-up day. The garbage company will take care of the rest.

3. Encourage your neighbors and friends to save their newspapers starting today. This program cannot be continued unless there is sufficient volume to make it economically worthwhile.

A spokesman for the disposal service said his company has been in touch with garbage firms in San Francisco, where a similar newspaper salvage operation has been underway for the past month. While public response has been enthusiastic there, he said, the volume of newspapers collected has not been sufficient to warrant opening a pulp paper mill in Northern California.

San Francisco garbage companies are continuing to collect bundled papers and are storing them for shipment to Southern California. The Carmel and Carmel Valley Disposal Service will follow the same course.

The firm said it is willing to do this as "a public service" -- IF people care enough to make the effort worthwhile.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER ...

Valley people divided over Nixon's Cambodian operation

BY PAT GRIFFITH

President Nixon's decision to send American troops into Cambodia has generated a strong response, pro and con, from the Monterey Peninsula. The local Western Union office has reported a "heavy volume" of telegrams addressed to the White House and Congressional leaders, and there has been a similar outpouring of letters and phone calls to Washington.

The FCC prohibits Western Union from revealing a count on telegrams or how many were in support of the President and how many were opposed. And of course there is no way to know the opinions expressed in letters.

Therefore, to get a sampling of local opinion on a subject of overwhelming national concern, the Outlook last week asked at random "do you approve of President Nixon's decision to send American forces into Cambodia?"

The answers showed an even division of opinion. Here they are:

"No. It's very upsetting. My husband and I have talked it over, and we feel it's just needlessly killing more people." Denis Livesey, 64 South Bank

"Of course not. It's an obscene war. It's undeclared. I sent letters to the White House, to Burt Talcott, to everybody. It probably won't do any good, but I hope it will." Al Parker, 56 Rancho Road

"I feel that we have to let those in authority, who are well qualified on the subject, be the ones to take care of us. They're the ones who have handled these things, and they must know better." Elizabeth Hoisington, El Cammito

"I think I'll reserve judgment. Apparently at this point they are doing what they set out to do, getting the arms caches and all that. If they pull out after doing this, I think I will have approved of the action." Glen Mewhinney, Village Art Center

"I sure do. I think the President and the military know more about what's going on than I do and I believe in following whatever he says." Mrs. Philip Walker, 17 Flight Road

"I don't approve of them (troops) leaving the United States. Whatever is best for the people in the country is what I believe in." Mrs. M. Branstedder, Cachagua Road

"No. I don't think American troops should be in Cambodia or Vietnam in the first place, because I feel the money that's being spent on the war is money that should be spent on the reorganization of people at home. The money is needed here and better spent on the survival of our own people. I feel that our country could be a much better country from within with less dissent, disorganization and chaos if we would become isolationist for three or four years and reorganize our own country from within. Then we could start worrying about foreign aid and problems from without." Vaughn Miller, Quien Sabe

"Yes. Get the job done. Quit fooling around over there." Frank Lang, Rancho Don Juan

"Absolutely not. We're in contact with the youth so much, we know how they feel. It's their world. The sooner we get out of that war the better. Escalation seems to be on the way. We feel very deeply about the youth; our generation is on the way out." Marian Weygers, La Rancheria

"If it will help in Vietnam, it's a good deal. I think you should get in and get it over with." Phil Parham, 32 El Potrero

Photos by George T.C. Smith

"No, no. It's complete idiocy. I called the White House and told the girl on the switchboard that I'd like to congratualate President Nixon on getting the men out of Vietnam, only why doesn't he bring them the other way?" Francis Bidwell, Panetta Road

"Under the circumstances I would say the President is justified." Samuel Gordon, Berkeley resident vacationing in Carmel Valley

"I don't approve of sending the troops. I don't think we should further our involvement." Mrs. Samuel Gordon of Berkeley

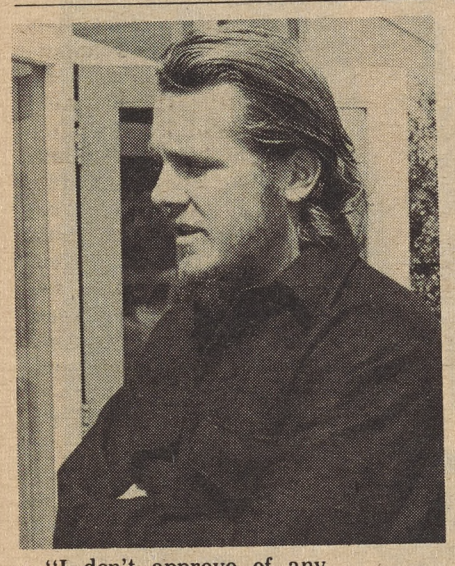
Water source proponents polarize at CVPOA meeting ....

Water Company pushing toward high dam at Cachagua or Klondike



"I don't approve of any war whatsoever. I'd rather die myself than kill someone." Ken Donohue, River Road

"It's a difficult question. The fact is we have a land war in Southeast Asia, and if we're going to get into a sanctuary-type situation like in Korea, we'll be there forever. So it's a case of making up our minds to win or get out...The conduct of the war thus far has been criminal—they're making the generals fight the war with one hand tied behind their back. Now, because of the loss of time, we'll take a terrific beating even if we try to bomb them out of the war, because they've had time to build up their anti-aircraft defenses. It's really a case of winning or getting out." Robert Oross, 23 Via Contenta

"I haven't read that much about it to know that much about it." -- Susan Brown, Hitchcock Canyon

TEXT OF STATEMENT BY WATER COMPANY

..The following statement was released last week by Kenneth Fuller, vice president of California-American Water Company, at a public hearing on water resources sponsored by the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association:

..."Although specific locations for the proposed additional dam on the Carmel River water shed are currently under consideration, the selection of a single best site must await additional testing (such as core drilling), continuing geological surveys, and precise mapping at other sites. The many factors of economics, required construction specifications, present and future capacities, relocations of existing public improvements, and environmental considerations will also weigh upon any site location.

..."In recent months there has been some specific interest in the so-called San Clemente site. In response to this interest it can be stated at this time that the San Clemente site appears to be insufficient in capacity and the ability to increase capacity, and therefore has been preliminarily placed in a position of lesser priority on the list of possible sites.

..."It should be emphasized that the direction and policy of the California-American Water Company in the matter of proper site selection and dam construction are set by its responsibilities to the communities it serves. As a private utility operated in the public interest under strict governmental regulation, the California-American Water Company seeks the highest quality water at the lowest price for the general benefit of the entire community. This community interest is both the goal and the responsibility of the company, and any inference that a special interest or private pressure would cause the company to compromise this public responsibility is both false and unwarranted.

..."During the next 12 months there are going to be many investigations by company consultants and others to complete the selection process. From time to time the California-American Water Company will present to the communities of the Monterey Peninsula Service Area timely information and progress reports with respect to this project, and other matters of water supply interest, through public announcements, local communications media, and briefings to the responsible local governmental officials.

..."The California-American Water Company will welcome the views of the community with reference to the proposed construction project. When facts relative to site and construction are more completely and fully developed, the company intends to schedule public meetings to discuss its findings and plans with the entire community.

..."Lastly, I want to emphasize that the company is moving toward, and is committed to, the selection of a site and the construction of a dam to provide, first and foremost, the water that is required now and in the future by the Monterey Peninsula."

The California-American Water Company is veering away from the San Clemente area as a possible site for a major new dam on the upper Carmel River. Instead, it plans to focus further engineering studies on two locations—the Syndicate site in Cachagua Valley, a likely possibility from the beginning, and the Klondike site just east of Carmel Valley Village, which had once been "last in line" because of geologic factors.

This information came to light at last Thursday's general meeting of the Carmel Valley Property Owners at Tularcitos School.

The latest update on the water company's thinking came from Vice President Ken Fuller, who flew up from Los Angeles to attend the hearing called by the CVPOA to explore water needs and conservation in Carmel Valley.

In a prepared statement, Fuller noted that "in recent months there has been some specific interest in the so-called San Clemente site. In response to this interest, it can be stated at this time that the San Clemente site appears to be insufficient in capacity and the ability to increase capacity, and therefore has been preliminarily placed in a position of lesser priority on the list of possible sites."

Fuller's views on dam sites, capacity curves and the need for additional water to meet future growth in Monterey County were challenged repeatedly by members of the audience wanting to discuss a different approach—namely the reclamation of sewage water in lieu of any new dam, anywhere.

Although the meeting had not been set up as a confrontation for or against a dam as such, that was how it developed. Fuller found himself in the forefront, explaining details involved in planning a new dam to an audience largely unconvinced that a new dam should be built.

It was not unlike an official of the Nixon administration defending certain actions as necessary to winning the war in Vietnam to a group opposed to fighting there in the first place.

The result was much the same, too. The harassed speaker departed convinced he is pursuing the only possible, rational course, while much of his audience drifted away muttering in frustration and anger.

The issue of reclamation of sewage water was first raised by a hydrologist on the panel, Paul F. Patchick. In his opening remarks Patchick challenged the water company to answer several questions.

MANY QUESTIONS

"Why must Carmel Valley supply the rest of the Peninsula's water supply? Why should this area be penalized by loss of its valuable land and scenic acreage? Why does the water company feel the Peninsula has to continue expanding and growing? Are water levels really falling alarmingly? What are the facts?"

Patchick then suggested that reclaimed sewage water could be a valuable source for recharging the underground water supply in the Valley.

As an example, he described the "living filter" system. This involves sprinkling waste water, which has been through secondary sewage treatment, onto forested, grassy or farming areas.

He said that nutrients are drawn into vegetation or crops, while the soil filters out detergents. Sprinkling such waste water at the rate of two inches a week over 1,290 acres of land, he said, would take care of sewage disposal from a community of 100,000, the approximate size of the Monterey Peninsula.

Another panelist, attorney Sean Flavin, described the sewage reclamation project in operation in San Diego, where he said that 20,000 acre feet of water are being reclaimed annually.

He recommended water reclamation as an alternative to a new dam, saying "We all appreciate that once a dam is built, it is there for all practical purposes forever. Do we just go on building more and more dams, until we finally run out of places to put them?"

Fuller said the water company would be willing to use reclaimed water "if it were available," but said he understood that the State Department of Health does not approve the use of reclaimed water for drinking because the sewage treatment plants "aren't fail safe."

However, it was noted that one billion gallons of retreated sewage water are now being used for boating, fishing, swimming and, presumably, some swallowing at the Indian Creek Reservoir near Lake Tahoe without any adverse effect on public health.

The idea of setting up an advanced waste water reclamation plant on the Monterey Peninsula had strong appeal to two general groups in the audience. First, to property owners and others concerned that a new dam will flood most or possibly all of Cachagua Valley, destroying beautiful scenery and the livelihood of many ranchers. And secondly, to many individuals concerned with the overall ecology of Carmel Valley and the Peninsula. They repeatedly mentioned problems of pollution, of drying up the Carmel

UNDER THE OAKS & AMONG THE CACTI

By Mildred Hattan

INVITATIONS SEALED with sunbursts as golden as the 50 years that guests were invited to help celebrate were mailed recently from Los Angeles, as a preliminary to a surprise reception planned by their daughter, Miss Barbara Wade and her aunt, Mrs. Fred Clark. It read in part, "In this year of Nineteen Hundred Seventy, the Fourth of May marks the Golden Anniversary of Ruth Collins Wade and Elbert Staughton Wade. To celebrate this joyous event, their daughter, Barbara, hereby extends a cordial invitation to a surprise May fete, Sunday May 3, from 3-5 p.m. at Rippling River Resort ..... The Valley is lovely in May so plan to join us." Many members of the La Rancheria couple's family and friends did and those unable to attend showered them with cards and phone calls from Reno, Mesa, Arizona, and Pacific Palisades. Two Valley friends whom Barbara commissioned as her "Field Generals" who helped arrange the party via long distance phone calls and letters were Mrs. Norman Bundgard and Mrs. Clifford Bolgard. The surprise (which Barbara claims was the only one ever successfully kept from her parents) very nearly failed at the Monterey Airport when Ruth insisted on meeting Barbara's plane and two of the guests were forced to disembark holding packages before their faces!

The refreshment table was beautifully decorated with an arrangement of snap dragons and daisies in yellow, gold and white. Virginia De Maria had baked an exquisite tiered white cake with pale yellow icing and trimmed with fresh yellow and white daisies and cymbidiums. Guests enjoyed the tea, coffee, champagne and Hors d'oureves served by Mrs. Joseph Blacow, Mrs. Thomas McKiernon, Mrs. Clifford Bolgard and Mrs. Keikoh Kitahara. Mrs. Gordon Brown was in charge of the guest book.

Among the special guests were Dr. Guy Clark of Napa, a former college professor of Mr. Wade's who attended the ceremony (as did Jenny Clark) 50 years ago at Mrs. Wade's Berkeley home; Mr. Wade's cousins and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Wade of Lake Oswego, Oregon and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wade of Reedsport, Oregon; Mrs. Keikoh Kitahara of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Yamaguchi and three sons, Kevin Tamio, Douglas Tadashi and Russell Kiyoshi. (The Yamaguchis are old friends of the family and honored the Valley-ites by asking before their children were born if the Wades would be their grandparents.)

Others attending were Dr. and Mrs. Paul Davis of San Jose, Mrs. Samuel Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Barragar, Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. John Hughes, Col. and Mrs. Getty Fairchild, Mrs. George Fitzhugh, Los Angeles, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Blacow, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bolgard, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bundgard, Mrs. Margaret Burkholder, Dr. and Mrs. S.N. Trevino, Mrs. Ruby Robinson, Napa, Major (ret.) and Mrs. Daniel Coleman, Mrs. Pearl Covey, Santa Monica, Mrs. Donald Day, Panorama City, Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Dickie, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ewing, Mr. and Mrs. George Sanford, Miss Esther Trevino, Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Fulton, Santa Monica, Mrs. Peter Girard, Mrs. Frank Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hansen, Miss Margery Ibsen, Rev. and Mrs. Don Johnson, Mrs. Lawrence Jones, Palm Springs (Mrs. Wade's sister-in-law), Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kaminske, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kunz, Capt. and Mrs. F. Mack Lansdowne, Mr. and Mrs. William Mallek, Maj. (ret.) Billie Mans, Mrs. Charles Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Albert M'Closkey, Los Angeles, Capt. (ret.) and Mrs. Thomas McKiernon, Mrs. W.B. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Ollason, Miss Sarah Oppenheimer, Mrs. Eugene Orne, Fresno, Mr. and Mrs. John Power, Mrs. Wilfred Robbins, Maj. (ret.) and Mrs. Howard Vail, Mrs. William Young, Santa Monica, Mr. and Mrs. George Fortune, Mrs. M.A. Little, Sacramento, Mrs. Donald Waylett, Mrs. Amy Mylar, Mrs. William Wood and Mrs. Richard Smith.

THE WADE'S three Japanese grandchildren very nearly stole the spot light at the anniversary party and most assuredly the hearts of the guests who met the handsome trio. It is a Japanese custom that a child must have 4 grandparents. Since the maternal grandmother was not living, Tamike and Jack Yamaguchi gave that privilege to the Wades. Left to right, Ruth Wade, Russell, 3, Elbert Wade, Kevin, 8, and Douglas, 6, Yamaguchi.

THE CARMEL VALLEY WOMEN'S CLUB met last week for a tea, and interesting discussion about Lyceum by Capt. Ralph Arndt, and an election of officers. Mrs. Joseph L. Dionne will head the organization for the coming year. Mrs. Francis Dane is the incoming vice president, Mrs. William G. Brodrick, recording secretary, Mrs. Gordon Harlander, corresponding secretary, Mrs. Arthur C. Wiley, treasurer. Making up the board of directors will be Mrs. Kenneth Korver, Mrs. Joseph A. Baudoin, Mrs. Norman Bundgard, Mrs. Frank Ambrogio and Mrs. S. Gordon Brown. The date of the installation luncheon will be announced at a later date.

THE CARMEL VALLEY SEA WEEDS, the water ballet group which has been a part of the Saturday recreation program sponsored by the Carmel Valley Community Center, held an end of the year swim party and picnic last Sunday at Bolado Park near Hollister. Girls making the trip with their coach, Mrs. Robert Oross were Andria Reed, Scarlett Hattan, Pamela Oross, Kelly Golding, Sidney Read, Betty Hancpol and Heidi Hattan.

ANYONE PLANNING to hike, fish or pack into the nether regions should be forewarned about leaving their car unattended since vandalism is creeping further into the back country. Take the case of Brian, Kenneth, and Donald Guthrie of 76 CarmelValley Road who heard that the really big fish were biting at the San Antonio River Camp last weekend. While they were busy reeling in their catch, someone was also busy letting the air out of their tires, removing the gas cap, breaking the car's wing windows, pulling out the distributor wires and making off with their sleeping bags. The boys hitchhiked into King City where they placed a call to their father, Harold Guthrie who drove out to assist them.

DON LAIRD, captain with the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department, had his fifth annual Fireman's Workshop in Fresno cut short when he was beaten by four hoods as he walked back to his hotel room following an evening session in Fire Science. A car pulled alongside the Valley-ite and the occupants began whipping him with a chain. Suddenly the driver discovered, "Hey, this doesn't look like the guy!" And they piled into the car and sped away leaving the Lilac Lane resident very much in need of a doctor. He sought help and returned home a day later. If anyone has occasion to approach Don in the near future, it would be wise to sing out loud and clear so that he has adequate warning that you are coming!

A FORMER RESIDENT of Calle de Ventana, Arnold T. Strand, died last week in Salinas. He had been ill for a long time. An art and mathematics teacher at Washington Junior High from 1947 until his retirement in 1967, "Oscar" was a landscape artist who not only made his home a show place, but also designed picturesque settings for numerous churches in the county. He always found time to judge at flower shows and art exhibits.

He had studied to become a teacher at Winona State Teachers College in his native Minnesota. He constantly updated his method of teaching at the University of Minnesota, Columbia University, New York University, Stanford, San Francisco State, San Jose State and the University of California at Berkeley. When he wasn't attending summer school, he was teaching summer sessions at Mexico City College. Friends wishing to do so may make contributions to his memory to the charity of their choice.

"THE FESTIVAL OF THE GRAPE" invariably makes social history in the Valley and this year on May 17 should be no exception. The Phantom Oak Moth is indebted to Mrs. Rex Pryer for delving into the records which date back 20 years to help review the function which will benefit the Community Center. In 1954 it was sponsored by the Kiwanis Club for the Center and held at Rancho Del Monte. EIGHTEEN different wines were served during the afternoon and the entertainment featured two of "Arthur Murray's top flight dancers" ... Nine well known cartoonists, all of whom lived in the area, displayed their cartoons, and greeted guests personally at the Los Laureles Lodge in 1958. Included in the show were Gus Arriola, Al Parker, Hank Ketcham, Frank O'Neal, Bill O'Malley, Bob Paplow, Eldon Dedini, the late Jimmy Hatlo, and the late Jack Keith ..... Planning the '59 and '60 Festival at the Lodge were Louis Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cooper, Phyliss Crockett and Mrs. Elvin Taylor. Local photographers and the C.V. Gem and Mineral Society made up the exhibits for those years ..... The late Lt. Gen. R.O. Bare USMC climaxed the 1961 affair with champagne ..... The Festival returned to Rancho Del Monte in 1965 and featured the Cypress Swim Club. Mrs. Michael Antoncich was chairman that year ..... In 1966 a style show featured a blonde (Ann Egli) a brunette (Bettie O'Neal) and a red head (Maggie Lifson) modeling 1966 fashions .....

In 1967 the Festival went psychedelic ..... remember that wildly painted bath tub masquerading as a wishing well? Ginnie Drew Murphy and Barbara Blevins masterminded the event at which all of the female members of the Board turned up in psychedelic colored costumes ..... An outstanding selection of cheeses and bread was arranged by Mrs. Dale Buche in 1968 and 1969 when the Board president

THE NOVEL (and to quote their president, Mrs. I.T. Johnson, "painless") money making project for the Carmel Valley Women's Club ended with the presentation of awards at last week's meeting. The Bridge Tournament which was instigated last fall helped to fill the club coffers, make new friendships, and gave an opportunity to tour some of the Valley's interesting homes. Mrs. Willoughby Moore chairmanned the tournament with Mrs. Robert Slangerup in charge of the records.

First place was presented to Mrs. Charles Robert Meyer and Mrs. Irwin T. Johnson (who the Phantom Oak Moth knows used their prize money to treat their husbands to dinner as a reward for their patience during numerous bridge games); second place to Mr. and Mrs. Shepard Peterson; and third place to Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Andersen. The booby prize, a copy of "How to Play Bridge" for each was awarded to Mrs. Donald Draper and Mrs. Henry Crew.

BOTTLES WASHED up on various doorsteps last week contained invitations to the recipients to a shipwreck party on "the Isle of Mink." Lyde and Lee Mink advised their guests to come dressed as they were before their ship went down; which sent party goers scurrying for imaginative costumes. All of the furnishings had been removed from the Sage Road home with mattresses placed on the floors and picture windows covered with butcher paper and port holes to simulate the interior of a ship. The deck surrounded the swimming pool had been covered with sand and decorated with tiki torches, palm fronds, tropical birds and various bits of flotsam and jetsam washed up on the Isle of Mink. Guests enjoyed dancing in the patio area, cooking over the many hibachis and sitting in the numerous life rafts. Guests arrived dressed in kelp and fish nets, as mailbags, fleet admirals, ship's maids, mermaids, skin divers, and sailors.

Probably one of the funniest were a foursome who frequently switched name tags reading, "Bob, Carol, Ted or Alice!" Among those attending were Dr. and Mrs. Paul Tocchet, Dr. and Mrs. Ed Arana, Dr. and Mrs. Daryl Jewett, Dr. and Mrs. Dale Glasco, Dr. and Mrs. Arno Hanel, L.Cdr. and Mrs. Neil Sparks, L.Cdr. and Mrs. Fred Holt, L.Cdr. and Mrs. Warren Post, L.Cdr. and Mrs. Barney Hicks, L.Cdr. and Mrs. Scott Tocell, and Rev. and Mrs. James Brock. THE FLOWERS along the winding drive and in hanging baskets were at their peak last week when Mrs. Nelson Miles Leoni invited St. Dunstan's benefit bridge and canasta group to hold their April party in her home. The Stock, Delphinium, Fairy Primrose and Lobelia were a nice compliment to the theme, "April showers bring May flowers." Co-hostesses, Mrs. Francis Dane and Mrs. Philip Walker, had decorated the tables with floral napkins, placemats and tallies. The centerpieces presented as table prizes were pink plastic vases filled with mixed boquets and topped with a miniature Japanese parasol. Mrs. Peter Glod won first place in canasta and Mrs. Vic Carp placed second. Canasta table prizes were won by Natalie Compass, Mary Wills, Beverly Sinclair, Martha Sturgiss and Hazel Carp. Mrs. Shepard Peterson was high in bridge with Dorothy Chappell and Bernice Leoni tied for second. Bridge table prizes were won by Murle Dawson,

MRS. CHARLES ROBERT MEYER and Mrs. I.T. Johnson were named winners of the Carmel Valley Women's Club Bridge Tournament. Mrs. Willoughby Moore (center) was chairman of the benefit. Mrs. Shepard Peterson (2nd from right) with her husband placed second. Mrs. Robert Slangerup (right) was the scorekeeper.

WHILE LOOKING through a Mother's Day packet last week the following article, "Meanest Mother in the World", which appeared several years ago in the Rotary Newsletter in Tomah, Wis. was rediscovered. Being a firm believer that Mother's Day should not be restricted to one day a year we'd like to dedicate the reprint to a very special Mom, Beth Williams who has been a patient in a Peninsula convalescent hospital for seven years .....

"I had the meanest mother in the world. While other kids ate candy for breakfast, I had to have cereal, eggs, toast. When others had pop and candy for lunch, I got a sandwich and fruit. As you can guess, my supper was different also.

But at least I wasn't alone in my suffering. My sister and two brothers had the same mean mother as I did.

My mother insisted upon knowing where we were at all times. You'd think we were at work on a chain gang. She had to know who our friends were and what we were doing. She insisted if we said we'd be home in an hour, that we be gone one hour or less, not more.

When we were younger, and we disobeyed, she actually struck us. Imagine! Now you begin to see how mean she really was.

The worst is yet to come. We had to be in bed early at night so we could get up early the next day. We could not sleep till noon like our friends. So while they slept -- my mother actually had the nerve to break the child labor law. She made us work! We washed dishes, made beds, learned to cook and all sorts of cruel things. I believe she lay awake at night thinking of mean things to do to us.

She always insisted upon our telling the whole truth even if it killed us, and it nearly did.

By the time we were teen-agers, she was much wiser and our lives became even more unbearable. None of this tooting the horn of a car for us to come running! She embarrassed us no end by making our dates and friends come to the door to get us. I forgot to mention that while my friends were dating at the mature age of 12 and 13, my old fashioned mother refused me that privilege until I was 15, and then only to a school function.

My mother was a complete failure as a mother. None of us has ever been arrested or beaten his mate. Each of my brothers served his time in the service of this country. And whom do we have to blame for the terrible way we turned out? You're right, our mean mother. Look at the things we missed. We never got to march in a protest parade, or take part in a riot, burn draft cards, and a thousand other things that our friends did. She forced us to grow up into God-fearing, educated, honest adults.

To tell the truth, I thank God He gave me the "meanest Mother in the world."

New textbook by Al Giordano published by Prentice - Hall

Dr. Al Giordano of Carmel Valley, chairman of the office occupations program at Monterey Peninsula College, has announced the publication, by Prentice-Hall, Inc. of his fourth textbook, "Basic Business Machine Calculation: A Complete Course,"

A graduate of Arizona State University, Dr. Giordano holds an M.Ed. degree from the University of Pittsburgh, an M.S. from Indiana University and a Ph.D. from the University of Ottawa, Canada.

He is an active contributor to such journals as American Business Education, The Journal of Business Education and The Balance Sheet. He is also consulting editor for Prentice-Hall for its office occupation series.

Bloodmobile to visit Carmel Valley on May 28

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will pay its semi-annual visit to Carmel Valley Thursday, May 28 and will be stationed at the Firehouse from 3 to 6:30. One hundred and two enthusiastic prospective donors were present at the October drawing, but, due to various health reasons, 12 people were rejected. All prospective donors are urged to note the date, as the need for blood is always great during the spring and summer months.

Questions about the Four Counties Blood Program are invited and may be directed to Mrs. Thomas McKiernon at 659-2833.

Kiwanis Club takes part in 'Drug Alert' Program

After only seven months, the Kiwanis International program of community education on drugs and drug abuse called Operation Drug Alert has proved to be one of the most successful undertakings in the organization's history, according to word received here by Dean Campbell, president of the Kiwanis Club of Carmel Valley.

Nearly 3,000 Kiwanis clubs in the United States and Canada are participating in the program, Dean Campbell said. Their activities run the gamut of volunteer services. Many of them have organized community action programs aimed at drug education; others have led such programs themselves.

Operation Drug Alert is Kiwanis' first experiment with an organization-wide "major emphasis program." The idea will be continued, Dean Campbell said.

HARRY CONLEY shown displaying his batik scarves to Ruth Pryer and Gordon Harlander. He will be among the artists featured at the Festival of the Grape. A Valley resident for 15 years he has practiced the art of batik for four years. In that time he has gained an international reputation in the art and his work has been widely shown. This will be Mr. Conley's last year in the Valley; he will conduct a batik school in St. Louis this summer and then hopes to be assigned to Micronesia with the Peace Corps to establish a batik and textile decoration center in the islands.

'Festival of the Grape' big weekend event

An Arts and Crafts show will be held in conjunction with the 1970 Festival of the Grape on Sunday from 3-5 at Rancho Del Monte Resort. Donations of $2.00 per person benefit the Carmel Valley Community Center. Mrs. Leon Mink, chairman, announced the following showing of arts and crafts.

Batiks will be shown by Harry Conley, and enamels by Avis Ballard, Kathryn Russell and Anne Berthoin. Oil paintings will be presented by Anne Rugh Baker, Marg Donneley and Virginia Ford. Lind Ford will display acrylics. There will be prints and sculpture by Audrey Cordrey and an exhibit of mixed media by Dick Crispo. Marzi's Monterey Pottery of Carmel Valley will complete the show with a collection of their pottery.

The event will take place under the oaks, on the lawn, and around the pool at Rancho Del Monte to the accompaniment of liquid refreshment and tasting of fine cheeses which have been selected by Mrs. Dale Buche. Mrs. James Ijams is in charge of table decor.

The Carmel Valley Community Youth Center is used constantly by groups of children and adults in the Valley, so you are urged to support the annual fund raising affair.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gillett have made their resort available for a number of years.

INVITATIONAL WOMEN'S SENIOR TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS HERE

The Rippling River Raquet Club will hold the Evelyn B. Merz Invitational Women's Senior Tennis Championships on May 22, 23, and 24. There are three classifications, B, C and D. Players are limited to two events. The age catagories are 30-35 and 40. A 15 minute default rule applies. Proper tennis attire is required. Trophies will be awarded to winners. Matches will begin at noon on May 22 and end about 3:00 p.m. on the 24th. Entry deadline is 6:00 p.m. on May 18. Anyone wishing further information may phone Mrs. Merz at 659-9992.

BY JUDITH EISNER

Last week was "National Be Kind to Animals Week." That is why we are mentioning it this week; we have a dislike of special weeks and days -- National Hot Dog Week, Boy Scout Week, Heart Week, Mother's Day, Father's Day. We get the feeling that we are being encouraged to remember briefly ..... eat hot dogs or pickles, take Mother out to dinner one evening, give the dog a new bone and then happily forget all about these things for another year. Send Mother back to her ironing board and rechain Fido to his cold, draughty doghouse until we are "reminded" to be nice to them again.....

Every week should be "Be Kind To Animals Week," for if we are not being kind, it stands that we are being unkind ... or cruel. And cruelty takes different forms. Negligence is cruelty and ignorance is cruelty and sometimes, too, kindness is cruelty ...

Negligence is letting your dog run loose even though he likes to be "free". Negligence of this sort is cruelty because it is dangerous to the dog, because thousands of dogs are run down by cars, even in quiet, remote areas; it is cruel because loose dogs get into dogfights, get lost, get stolen, and get pregnant. And, at that point, the cruelty becomes compounded, affecting not only your dog, but her future puppies ... and the negligence and cruelties to which they may be subjected ... The same thinking applies to loose cats.

Ignorance ... last night we helped remove three ticks from a beautifully cared for, much-loved and valuable dog. The other day we berated a woman whose Samoyed's coat is so totally matted that we wonder how anyone will ever be able to hack through it -- and we shudder to think of what lives under that impenetrable blanket; recently, we stopped a man whose dog's eye was oozing pus, inflamed, half-sealed with crusts and told him the dog needed veterinary attention ... He had never noticed ...! And yet, these people love their dogs and think they are being kind to them ...

Kindness ... well-intended little things ... tidbits, special treats, chicken livers ... innocent little kindnesses which too often lead to improper diet and obesity, then to kidney problems, heart trouble, respiratory difficulties. Our veterinarian once said that 90 per cent of the dogs he treated suffered primarily from obesity. If you got them on a correct diet, gradually returned them to proper weight, all the "illness" symptoms would disappear ...

Kindness ... like carrying little dogs around as if they had no legs of their own ... like nail polish on Poodles, and breath sprays and nightgowns and booties for dogs. It has been shown that a dog can be damaged psychologically; he doesn't know whether he's a dog or what ... he becomes neurotic because a well-meaning owner denies him the right to be a dog.

And the ultimate "kindness" of prolonging life for the sake of life ... past the point of any pleasure, past hope. It is difficult for humans to understand that there is a time when there is a kindness beyond life, and that is the blessing of merciful death. That point comes, for an animal, when it is too hurt or too weak, too old, blind, deaf, enfeebled, ill or unwanted for life to be the blessing it should be.

The SPCA sets as its goal the prevention of suffering, not the saving of lives. Thus, in the case of an adult deer struck by a car, even though the injuries themselves may be treatable, the ultimate suffering of the animal, its terror of humans, its pain, its refusal to eat, its inability to adapt to restraints, splints, casts, confinement, its mute, thrashing-eye-rolling panic at a human touch make it impossible to call it kindness to attempt to "save" this animal. The only kindness is to put it to sleep, gently, painlessly ...

Thus, too, are the cases of the pitiful thousands of unwanted dogs and cats the Society receives each year. It is easy to rise up and protest their killing, however merciful the means. It is more difficult to do a bit of arithmetic: 39,000 animals were put to sleep in 1969 in Monterey County alone. No one wanted them. They were abandoned, stray, homeless. No one claimed them, adopted them, cared whether they lived or died. Can you contemplate the land area required to adequately house 39,000 dogs and cats? Can you comprehend the man-hours and dollars required to feed and treat and clean up this hoard? And assuming this could be accomplished, what kind of life would these 39,000 domestic animals lead? Would they be kept in 39,000 separate cages? Who would pet them? Play with them? Train them? "Humanize" them? Would they mrely exist, sad-eyed, loveless, day in and day out -- fed and sheltered -- but empty?

A recent news broadcast on KSBW-TV evoked much irate response from the people of this city. Unfortunately, the film made at the County Animal Shelter (the Pound) was mistaken by some as representing the SPCA and a cry went up protesting the brutal execution of these animals. For the record, the Monterey County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals literally "puts to sleep" by an overdose of barbiturates the ill, the infirm and the unwanted animals they cannot save.

This is euthanasia -- mercy killing -- in its true form. The animals are given a tranquilizer to prevent fear, then are individually injected and simply fall asleep. Certainly this is a kinder alternative than life as a stray, hungry, cold, frightened, chased, unloved, unwanted ... or locked in a cage ... forever.

Every week should be a week of kindness to animals. What can you do? You can help to combat ignorance and negligence; take care of your own pets and care enough to help others. Be "your dog's brother's keeper" and don't be afraid to inform someone of what he's doing wrong. Prevent unwanted puppies and kittens; counsel your neighbor to do the same. Practice true kindness based on sound animal care principles, not the well-intentioned kindness that grows from myth, superstition and pure emotionalism.

"Headquarters For Homeowners"

Where will the dam be built?

River and of the long-term need for even more water than the new dam would provide.

Dr. Allen Nadler challenged Fuller's premise that a rise in population is inevitable, and that therefore more water must be found someplace.

"We don't think it's our function to control the population," Fuller replied. "There are many things that can be done," he added. "The question is how much will they cost?"

RECLAIMED WATER OUT?

He said he could foresee no way in which reclaimed water could be made available within the time limit facing the company.

"The question is imposing a limit on growth until we have it," Dr. Nadler retorted. "What obstacles are there to treating sewage and water under one hat? Let's take it out of your hands. You've demonstrated your unwillingness and incompetence to deal with it. Why not go elsewhere?"

The crowd burst into applause when Dr. Nadler finished speaking.

Professor Robert Read, San Jose State meteorologist, asked Fuller why the water company had allowed the present San Clemente dam to become half filled with silt.

Fuller said that San Clemente Dam "has been silted up as long as I have known of it...If there were an economical way or even an uneconomical way to remove the silt, we would."

He estimated its present capacity at 1800 to 2000 acre feet of water, as compared to 2500 acre feet when it was built.

In explaining the company's latest thinking on dam locations, Fuller said that a location near the existing San Clemente Dam is being downgraded because new topographical studies show it would only store 11000 acre feet.

He said it would be false economy for the company to build for less than 20,000 to 25,000 acre feet yield.

Detailed studies of the Pine Creek location, he said, disclosed that almost no water would be stored for the first 200 feet of dam constructed.

"Because any structure will logically be built in increments, we'd have a pretty big hunk of something there that wasn't producing any water," Fuller said.

He explained later that the water company is still considering a 25,000 acre foot dam at Syndicate, which would flood Cachagua Valley to an elevation of 970 feet. At this height, he said, water would not back into the many canyons leading off the main valley, and would not touch Comsat, which is at an elevation of 1100 feet.

Fuller admitted that the company doesn't relish the prospect of buying all the property in the Cachagua area, and said no appraisers would canvass the land "until we have some definite priorities."

He said engineers will take a new look at the Klondike location because some preliminary reports indicate it might start producing water from the first foot of dam construction. Special attention will be given to the geology in the area, because two earthquake faults converge there. There is also an earthquake fault running through Syndicate Camp. However, none of these faults are considered "active."

Under questioning by Mrs. Richard Gayman, Fuller said that a Cachagua dam could probably be used for recreation, since water would be released into San Clemente for distribution. A Klondike dam could not be used for swimming or boating, but Fuller said that limited fishing might possibly be permitted, if carefully policed.

STATE OFFICIAL SPEAKS

Kenneth L. Woodward of Sacramento, chief of the division of water rights for the State Water Resources Control Board, told the CVPOA that the board "will surely protect you to the extent they think is reasonable" when Cal-American applies for water permits to build the dam.

His words failed to reassure many in the audience, and he later said he didn't know of any precedent which would allow the board to require the water company to study water reclamation as an alternative to building a new dam.

"If we want to do the things we're talking about, we're going to have to find the human resources to work toward our objectives," observed CVPOA President Edwin Lee.

Lee read a letter from County Supervisor Willard Branson and brief messages from Assemblyman Bob Wood and Congressman Burt Talcott, all of whom had been invited to the metting but were detained by other responsibilities.

CVPOA BOARD MEETING CANCELLED

Thursday night's meeting of the board of directors of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association has been cancelled.

CVPOA President Ed Lee has urged members to attend instead a public hearing on the feasibility of regional sewage treatment, which will be held tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the MPC gym.

The meeting is sponsored by the League of Women Voters and the Monterey Peninsula Jaycees, and will feature a panel of engineering consultants discussing the possibility of an area-wide sewage program.

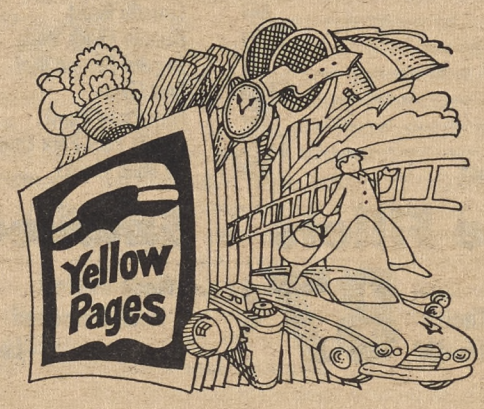
THE PHONE BOOTH



Ever since Benjamin Franklin began publishing his almanac in 1732, guidebooks in one form or another have been popular in America. Today there are manuals and directories for almost anything you want to do. Probably the best known guidebook though is the Yellow Pages of your telephone book. And why not? It's just about the most complete listing of nearly every kind of product and service available in your area. So whatever you're trying to find, just remember there's nowhere you can find help faster than in the Yellow Pages.

To focus attention on the fight against deafness, May has been declared "Hearing and Speech Month." The Bell System has special equipment and services to help people who have difficulty using the telephone, and may be able to help someone you know. Call your Telephone Business Office for more information.

The Question Box

Q What are the deadline dates for changes in telephone listings for the 1970 Monterey Directory?

A The advertising Yellow Pages deadline is May 21, 1970. Alphabetical White Page changes must be completed the week of June 12, 1970.

Charlson in all-out effort to unseat Coffin

If there is major interest in any Monterey County political race this year, it is probably focussed on the office of County Superintendent of Schools.

The incumbent, Ed Coffin, is faced with a serious challenger in Ray Charlson, presently assistant superintendent for educational services for the Monterey Unified School District.

Coffin, in a running battle with the County Board of Education, has, for various reasons, kept his office in turmoil for a long time.

Charlson is campaigning actively, stressing his support by educational leaders in the county as well as the need for harmony in the superintendency.

Says Charlson: "It is significant and personally gratifying that every superintendent of a school district in the county has offered to support me in my bid for the office of county superintendent of schools in the June 2 election.

"This is significant because each superintendent is the educational leader in his or her community. And when every one of them supports me I believe he or she is, in effect, saying, we want the county office of education to restore with strength and confidence its main role and function of giving educational services to every local school district."

Coffin's action in firing several of his top assistants has also been used by Charlson in his campaign.

Charlson states: "The main purpose of the county office of education is service to local school districts. These services are now seriously faltering: there is a great deal of confusion: morale of the county staff is low, and that very important two way communication between the county superintendent and the district superintendents is practically non-existent.

"In supporting me for the office of county superintendent, I believe the district superintendents are saying they want leadership, harmony and responsibility restored in the office of county superintendent of schools."

Charlson, 56, has had 16 years of classroom teaching and 14 years of school administration. Born in San Francisco, he received his doctor of education degree at the University of Southern California.

Junior Rodeo at Salinas Sunday

The 24th annual Championship Junior Rodeo sponsored by the Monterey County Sheriff's Posse, will be held Sunday at the Posse Grounds on Natividad Road in Salinas.

The show, limited to riders who have not reached their 18th birthday by Jan. 1, 1970, will feature six track and seven arena events.

Starting at 12:30 with the grand entry, arena events will include steer riding, single steer stopping, calf riding, team roping, mixed team roping, girl's steer daubing, and barrel race.

On the track will be stock horse classes, both dry work and to work cattle stock seat equitation, pole bending, and for the first time in a number of years, a stock seat equitation medal class approved by the American Horse Shows Association. The greased pig scramble will be held for both boys and girls.

A silver buckle and $100 merchandise award will be given the high point boy and girl of the day. A $25 merchandise award will go to the best appearing cowboy and cowgirl in the grand entry parade. Trophies will be given to the best appearing small fry boy and girl five and under, and to the best appearing junior mounted group.

40-acre minimum zoning ordinance for Jamesburg?

A permanent 40-acre minimum zoning ordinance for the Jamesburg area will be discussed at the May 27 meeting of the County Planning Commission.

The proposed "N" District (rural-residential-agricultural use) would encompass 26,000 acres in the Jamesburg area south of Cachagua. Since 1968 the area has been under an interim 40-acre ordinance, which expires on Nov. 26.

The Planning Commission staff has recommended establishment of a permanent "N" District, which would allow one single family residence on a 40-acre minimum building site. It has also suggested using an "AP" District for the two agricultural preserves in this area, which would allow a 40-acre minimum building site.

The staff has also recommended zoning all contiguous properties in the "N" District, including approximately 1900 acres owned by the Lambert family which had been excluded from the interim zoning ordinance.

The Jamesburg area included in the proposed zoning adjoins the Cachagua "N" District with 5 acre minimum building sites on the north, and the Tularcitos "F" District (agricultural) on the south, which is zoned for 10-acre minimum building sites.

GIANTS AND PIRATES LEAD CARMEL VALLEY LITTLE LEAGUES

Major and Farm Teams of the Carmel Valley Little League have run the weather gamut of wind, rain, hail and heat wave, during the early games of the 1970 season. Through our varied weather forecasts play continues with the Giants leading the 6 wins and 1 loss in the Major League and in the Minors the Pirates with 4 wins and 1 loss.

Head scorekeeper, Mrs. Roger Sherman, lists the Major Team standings as Lions 2nd, Tigers 3rd, and Volunteers 4th. For the Farm Teams the Cubs are in second place, the Indians hold third and the Hornets are 4th.

Individual games last week were as follows:

FARM

May 4 -- Pirates 7, Cubs 4
May 6 -- Indians 9, Hornets 6
May 9 -- Indians 12, Pirates 11
May 9 -- Cubs 13, Hornets 4

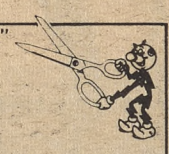
MAJOR

May 5 -- Tigers 8, Volunteers 7
May 7 -- Lions , Giants 8
May 9 -- Giants 5, Tigers 3 (extra innings)
May 9 -- Volunteers 12, Lions 16

Games begin at 5:00 p.m. on Mondays thru Thursdays and on Saturdays at 9:00 a.m. at the Little League Field on Paso Hondo. Everyone is invited to attend the games. There is no admission fee.

More Helpful Tips from PG&E:

"Clip and Save"



How to warm up a cold pilot.

Even the most faithful pilot light can go out. So check your pilot first if one of your gas appliances or furnace isn't operating.

Most gas ranges have more than one pilot. If you're not sure where they're located, consult your owner's manual. (If you need help, call us.) Before relighting a pilot, be sure all burners are turned off. Allow a few minutes for the air to clear, then touch a lighted match to the pilot opening. The pilot should light with a small, blue flame, and the burner should light when you turn it on. If the burner fails to light, call us. We'll send a man out to check it.

Modern gas water heaters and dryers shut off completely if the pilot goes out. And most models bear manufacturer instructions for relighting. If you can't get the appliance operating, call us or the installer.

If the pilot of any gas heater or furnace goes out, TURN OFF THE MAIN BURNER VALVE FIRST. Allow ten or fifteen minutes for any accumulation of gas to clear before relighting pilot (following the instructions on the equipment). With the pilot relighted, the furnace or heater should operate. If it won't, call us.

PILOTS NEEDN'T GO ON VACATION. Some folks prefer to shut off furnaces and water heaters during the summer or vacations. However, it's more convenient to turn off the main burner, but not the pilot. When the pilot is lighted, your furnace is ready to work on a cold day. Most hot water heaters can be turned to "PILOT" when not in use. This keeps the pilot lighted and prevents the main burner from heating water.

WARNING: Never look for a gas leak with a lighted match or candle. If you suspect a gas leak, call PG&E right away and we'll check it.

If you call for a PG&E service man to check out a gas leak or an appliance, have him show you where your pilots are, and how to relight them. If an appliance needs repairs or parts, an appliance man, plumber, or furnace man should be called.

P.S. The average daily cost of gas and electricity to run a typical household year 'round is less than a couple of packs of cigarettes.

Science intrigues Middle School students

Many interesting projects were demonstrated at the science section of the Carmel Middle School Fair.

Roland Schut, chairman of the science department, said that the projects represent work typical of what students have been doing throughout the year.

The pictures show typical students who involved themselves in a huge variety of projects. An estimated 400 parents attended the fair.

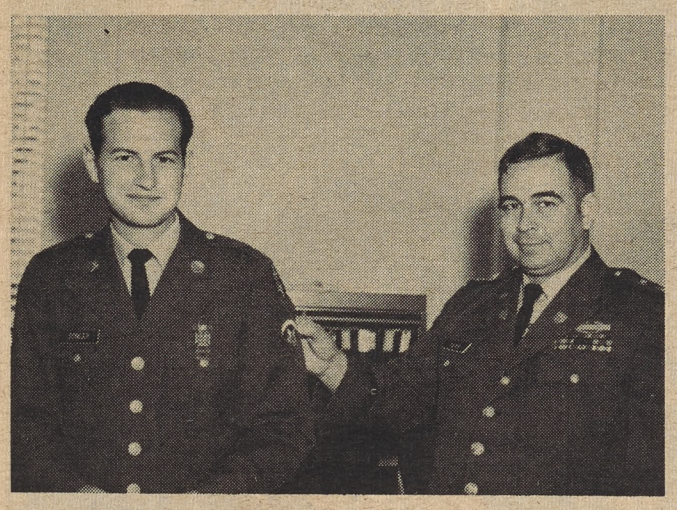
Bankers fill 2 vacancies on Valley Chamber board



A CARMEL VALLEY SOLDIER was promoted to Specialist Five during a ceremony held at the Presidio of San Francisco, Calif. Specialist Five Harry N. Conley, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Conley, Jr., of 7 Marquard Road, Carmel Valley, received his new insignia of rank from Captain Claude Moore (right in photo) Acting Data Processing Center Commander, during an informal ceremony. The 24-year old soldier received his promotion after serving more than one year as an equipment operator at the Data Processing Center here. Conley graduated from Carmel High School in 1963 and went on to study at Humboldt State College where he received a Bachelor of Science degree in 1968. He entered the Army shortly after graduation in November, 1968. U.S. Army Photograph

Two new directors - both bankers - were appointed to the board of directors of the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce last week.

They are Tillie Knight, manager of the Bank of America branch in Carmel Valley Village, and Henry Stalder, manager of the UCB branch in the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center.

Mrs. Knight replaces Al Smith, who was her predecessor as well at the bank; he was recently transferred to Salinas. Stalder, who moved to the Valley recently, succeeds Herb Brownell, who resigned after many years on the board.

Both appointments were approved by the chamber board after a committee headed by Lou Gardner recommended the new directors.

GROWTH PROBLEM

During the meeting, Gardner raised a question which the growth and development of Carmel Valley has caused the Chamber of Commerce.

He pointed out that when the chamber started, it represented the Village area, which then contained practically all the business in the Valley down to Highway 1, except for a pumpkin stand.

Since then, two large shopping centers have been built, and a number of other businesses have been launched along Carmel Valley Road.

"The Chamber of Commerce needs to relate to the entire Valley," Gardner said, "but each of the three or four main business areas need to have their own local organization, and their activities can be coordinated by the over-all Carmel Valley chamber."

More about this problem will probably be said at future chamber meetings. The membership as of last week had reached 74, about half the potential.

Chuck Strathmeyer, chamber president, said that a new directory of businesses would be printed soon for distribution throughout the Valley. He urged all businesses who want to be represented in the directory to pay their dues for 1970.

ADVERTISING PROGRAM

Skip Marquard, chairman of the advertising committee, outlined the plans for the 1970 season.

He said that the Carmel Valley "sun theme" would be used to encourage tourists to visit the Valley, and that better media would be used than in the past.

These include the Carmel Pine Cone, Wall Street Journal, This Month and Key. An attempt would also be made to try and determine which media got the best results by checking with resort owners.

To supplement the advertising program, the committee is also going to circulate a directory of resorts and restaurants located in the Valley.

ASSOCIATED CHAMBERS

The Carmel Valley chamber will be represented at future meetings of an informal association of chambers of commerce in Monterey County. Strathmeyer said the Salinas Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the meetings in an effort to get chamber officials to discuss and work out common problems. A preliminary meeting has been held, and two from Carmel Valley will attend future sessions, which will be held from time to time.

Judge Elmer Machado of Salinas was the distinguished visitor at the May meeting of the chamber, held at the Inn. He is a candidate for re-election as a superior court judge.

The turn-out for the meeting was one of the best ever -- almost 30 were on hand.

To start work on repairing Robinson Canyon Bridge

County Maintenance crews have begun construction of a detour just downstream from the present Robinson Canyon Road Bridge over Carmel River. This detour is being constructed to permit utility relocations and removal of the existing bridge prior to the awarding of a contract for the replacement of the present bridge.

The detour will include a temporary bridge and it is anticipated that this will be opened approximately the second week of June. This work will permit an earlier date for the contractor to construct the replacement bridge.

As soon as traffic is routed onto the new detour, the County Maintenance forces will be removing the old bridge.

It is planned to start construction on the new bridge during the first part of July with completion in October.

New culverts installed on Carmel Valley Road

The County Road Department last week replaced several rusted, clogged drainage pipes running under Carmel Valley Road east of Los Laureles Grade and at the intersection of Laurel Drive.

The work, which slowed traffic to a one-way crawl, was undertaken to improve drainage conditions at those locations. During the heavy 1968-69 winter rains, water poured over the road and flooded low-lying property.

New four-foot drainage pipes were installed to carry storm water under the road for release into natural culverts running to the river.

While this work was proceeding, the telephone company was moving several poles back a few feet near the intersection of Carmel Valley Road and Ford Road.

This project was undertaken at the request of the road department, which plans to widen the shoulder by 2 feet along the northern side of Carmel Valley Road between Los Laureles Grade and the Village. This work, subject to approval by the county supervisors, will begin this summer and be completed in the fall.

CHARLSON
FOR COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

The present superintendent has involved the County Office in years of costly controversy. He has been asked to resign by his Board, by the Monterey County Grand Jury, and by a fact finding panel of the California Association of School Administrators. He can no longer serve his districts for he has lost their trust. Dr. RAY CHARLSON will return that trust. Every district superintendent supports him! He needs your support too.

THE TOWN CRIER

THE LOWER VALLEY ADVISORY COMMITTEE recently reviewed the controversial hillside zoning ordinance for Carmel Valley and came to the same conclusions that the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association had reached some time ago. Namely, that the basic hillside ordinance is not strong enough in itself to control hillside development in accord with its stated objectives, and at the same time is not flexible enough to be acceptable to all areas of Monterey County. In sending along its opinions to the County Planning Commission, the advisory committee recommended that a "Scenic Conservation" District zoning ordinance would be better than the proposed HC District amendment.

THE CALIFORNIA TEACHERS ASSOCIATION will sponsor a meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow evening in the Salinas High School auditorium to discuss Proposition 8 on the State ballot and its specific relationship to Monterey County. Several speakers will explain the proposition's provisions, its relationship to county government and its likely affect on the local tax rate. A question and answer session will follow.

CARMEL VALLEY'S Camp Amigos will be receiving a check for $700 from the Episcopal churchwomen of St. Dunstan's Church, who raised funds for the popular day camp through a rummage sale held last week. George Lockwood, president of the Camp Amigos board, reported Monday night that additional contributions are needed to assure successful operation of the camp for four weeks this summer. Campership donations of $5 or more will help defray expenses for children from low economic families. Contributions are tax exempt, and may be mailed to Camp Amigos, P.O. Box 1296, Carmel.

Lockwood also issued a reminder to all children who have applied to attend Camp Amigos that a free medical clinic will be held Saturday, May 23, at 9:30 a.m. at Highland School in Seaside. Three doctors and a nurse have volunteered their services to check all children going to Camp Amigos. If they prefer, parents may have campers checked by their own physicians.

A PIONEER in the field of encounter groups and social psychology, William Schutz, will be the guest author for a give-and-take seminar at the Thunderbird from 5 to 7 p.m. Sunday. Schutz is associate in residence and director of the residential program at Esalen Institute. He will be discussing ideas from his latest book, "Joy -- Expanding Human Awareness," which relates many of the procedures and techniques he has used successfully at Esalen and in working with industry and college groups across the country.

CARMEL VALLEY'S noted batik artist, Harry Conley Jr., is about to pull up stakes and head for St. Louis, Mo., and possibly Indonesia or Micronesia. He plans to open a private batik school in St. Louis, and perhaps a second school in Baton Rouge, La. Last year he was asked to spend a year teaching batik in Indonesia, but neither the Indonesian nor U.S. governments have travel funds available at the moment. So Conley is investigating the possibility of travelling to Micronesia on his own, and introducing batik there.

FIRST AID COURSE

The Red Cross Advanced First Aid Course will be taught at the Carmel Valley fire station starting Tuesday, May 19, at 7:30 p.m. The course involves 16 hours of instruction, and will be given on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, two hours a night. Individuals enrolling in the course must have the standard Red Cross first aid card.

Final Symphony concert at Sunset

The final concert of the 1969-70 season will be presented by Monterey County Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Haymo Taeuber, conductor, Sunday, 8:00 p.m. at Monterey Peninsula College's Gym-Auditorium, and on Tuesday, 8:30 p.m. at Sunset Auditorium, Carmel.

Joining the Symphony will be the 90-voice Monterey Peninsula Choral Society and four west coast soloists, Meg Broughton, Glenna DeWeese, Paul Raabe and James Tippey, in a performance of Beethoven's Ninth, the "Choral Symphony."

Meg Broughton, soprano, has sung with every symphony orchestra in Northern California and was heard locally in the Verdi "Requiem" last season.

Contralto Glenna DeWeese is well-known to local audiences. She has sung with the Choral Society and Symphony in Handel's "Messiah" and in Haydn's "Creation." This will be her third season as a member of the Bach Festival Chorale and she has been the soloist at the Community Church of Monterey Peninsula, First Church of Christ Scientist, Carmel, Carmel Presbyterian and Bethlehem Lutheran Church, Monterey.

Paul Raabe, tenor, is new to Peninsula audiences. He is a member of the Sacramento Chorale and has concertized extensively both in oratorio and operatic works in the Sacramento and Northern California areas.

James Tippey, bass, received high praise for his recent performance in Haydn's "Creation" on Palm Sunday with the Choral Society and Symphony. Mr. Tippey also appeared last May in the Verdi "Requiem" with the Choral Society. He has been the leading baritone with San Francisco's Western Opera Theatre and appeared as soloist with the Los Angeles Philharmonic.

Tickets are available for the Monterey concert at Abinante's, Monterey; Grove Pharmacy, Pacific Grove; Seaside Chamber of Commerce, and from the Symphony Office by calling 624-4125. The Carmel series is sold out, but there may be some tickets available from subscribers who cannot attend.

PADRE TRAILS CAMERA CLUB MEETS MAY 21

The Padre Trails Camera Club will meet on Thursday, May 21, at 8:00 p.m., in Brey Hall, at Carmel High School. The meeting is open to all interested color camera enthusiasts.

The guest speaker will be Helen C. Manzer, a Fellow of the Photographic Society of America and an Associate of the Royal Photographic Society of Great Britain. Mrs. Manzer teaches color slide photography on the east coast as well as here in California - she is especially known here on the peninsula for her annual workshops at Asilomar. It is anticipated that she will show some of her own slides.

And she will judge the slides presented by members in the club contest: pictorial color, from the recent field trip to Mission San Antonio.

For further information please call Thomas J. Hardy, president, 375-8586, or address him in care of the Padre Trails Camera Club, Box 4994, Carmel.

Carmel Valley teen agers invited to forum at Center

The Carmel Valley Community Youth Center is holding a "Teen-age Meeting" this Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m. at the Community Center. All youth, 13 to 17, are invited to attend.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss what the Carmel Valley Community Youth Center can do to provide recreational and social activities that will be of interest to the teen-age community. The C.V.C.Y.C. has been sponsoring a number of activities for pre-teens and now it wants to determine what the teen-agers want. The meeting is planned to be an informal discussion with emphasis primarily on the needs and desires of the teen-agers and how they can be related to C.V.C.Y.C. facilities.

Four adult members of the Community Center Board of Directors will be present. They are Gordon Harlander, president, Lori Swiess, Gale Buche and Peter Lyon.

The board members of the C.V.C.Y.C. feel that there is a need for more teen-age activities at the Community Center but are frank in admitting they do not know what kind of activities would be the best for this age group.

This meeting will provide the opportunity for the Teens of the valley to express themselves and perhaps initiate the action towards their desired goals. The C.V.C.Y.C. wants and needs suggestions from these young adults.

Refreshments will be served and the meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. and end by 9:00. The invitation to this meeting is being extended to only the teenagers.

CHAPEL GUILD TO MEET MAY 20

The social club sponsored by the C.V. Community Chapel Guild will meet at 12:30 on Wednesday, May 20 in Fellowship Hall for bridge and canasta. Preceding play, dessert will be served by the hostesses for the day, Mrs. Clifford Bolhstf, Mrs. Edward Chappell and Mrs. James Fitch. This friendly and informal group meets on the third Wednesday of each month and visitors and newcomers are always welcome. For reservations for bridge please call Mrs. James Fitch, 659-4207; for canasta, call Mrs. Vera Stokes, 659-4286.

GARDEN SHOW TO BE HELD SATURDAY

The Carmel Valley Garden Association will hold its annual flower and garden show on Saturday from 1 to 7 p.m.

The theme of this year's show will be "Viva California." All amateur gardeners are invited to compete with cut flowers, potted plants, or flower arrangements. There will be plants and cuttings for sale.

Admission is free, and there will be door prizes. Call Mrs. Stanley Roberts at 659-2322 for information on entering flower arrangements.

CARMEL RUMMAGE SALE THURSDAY

Carmel's most celebrated Rummage Sale is at hand: Thursday, 10-4 pm, in the Parish Hall, Lincoln & 9th Carmel. Once again a huge collection of merchandise will be offered in all 17 departments including men, women, and children's clothing and accessories; jewelry, furniture and housewares; antiques; garden plants; new. Many unusual items will be featured, St. Ursala's Circle, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Russel Townsend, is in charge of coordinating this annual event, and reminds everyone that this year more than ever, the economy and conservation-minded will find bargains of useful and often hard-to-find articles for sale.

A Snack and Luncheon Bar will serve, and free baby-sitting service is available for shoppers.

TELEPHONE DIRECTORY TO GO TO PRESS

The annual project of revising the Monterey and San Benito Counties telephone directory -- which lists Carmel Valley numbers -- is now underway.

Don Boston, local manager, advises subscribers who wish to make changes in listings to contact the PT&T business office as soon as possible.

"The deadline for Yellow Pages is May 21, and the last day for alphabetical (white pages) is June 12," said Boston. "We will be unable to accept any additions, deletions or other changes after those dates."

Telephone subscribers in Carmel Valley who have directory changes should call the PT&T business office at 375-1511.

C.J. MacGOWAN KILLED ON HIGHWAY NEAR NORGAN HILL

Private funeral services were held today (Wednesday) for Cecil J. MacGowan of Carmel Valley, who was killed Sunday night when he was struck by a bus on Highway 101 just north of Morgan Hill.

Mr. MacGowan, who was 64, was walking east across the divided highway when he was hit by a northbound Greyhound bus. He was killed instantly. The California Highway Patrol is investigating the cause of the accident.

Anative of Nova Scotia, he was born on Oct. 27, 1905. He had been a resident of Monterey County for 25 years, and lived with his wife, Betty, at 25 Village Drive.

In addition to his widow, he is survived by his daughter, Mrs. Jack (Nancy) Miller of San Jose, and two grandchildren. He is also survived by two brothers, Clyde and Maurice MacGowan of Nova Scotia, and two sisters, Mrs. Teta Downie of Rhode Island and Hilda MacGowan of Nova Scotia.

Burial will be at El Carmelo Cemetery in Pacific Grove. The Paul Mortuary is in charge of arrangements.

FIRE AND FIRST AID CALLS

The Carmel Valley fire department answered two fire calls last week. A small brush fire at the end of the airstrip was quickly extinguished Friday evening, and on Sunday firemen put out a fire in a trash bin at the Community Center.

The Red Cross ambulance operated by the department also responded to three calls for medical assistance during the week. On Wednesday, the first aid crew took Gail Rosenbloom, of 1033 Austin Ave., Pacific Grove, to Community Hospital after she fractured her ankle in an automobile accident on the Arroyo Seco Road near the Cahoon Ranch.

Friday morning, Tammy Stainbrook, 10, of Lupin Lane, was taken to Community Hospital from Tularcitos School, where she had injured her back in a fall. And Friday evening, the ambulance reported to the scene of an automobile accident on Los Tulares Road, and transported Lewis Lanstrom to Community Hospital.
